TEACHER KEY - Reading (70 points)

Accept equivalent wording that preserves the required meaning. Minor language errors do not invalidate a clear reading answer. The trap labels are project teaching categories.

1. i) Members receive them for helping other people. (8 points)

Evidence: Members earn one time credit for every hour they spend helping someone. [lines 4-5]

Marking: 8 points for option i; 0 for another option.

Traps: Money assumption, Unsupported restriction, Direct-exchange assumption

Feedback: Credits are earned by giving help. They are not bought with money. The paragraph does not limit their use to professional services or to the same person.

2. ii) They earn the same number of time credits. (7 points)

Evidence: An hour of gardening earns the same credit as an hour of computer lessons, even if one of these services usually costs more. [lines 9-11]

Marking: 7 points for option ii; 0 for another option.

Traps: Usual price versus time credit, Unsupported condition

Feedback: Equal time earns equal credit, even when the usual prices differ. Neither equal prices nor one provider is required.

3. The skills residents can offer AND the help they need. (8 points)

Evidence: a form describing the skills they can offer and the help they need [lines 8-9]

Marking: 4 points for the skills they can offer; 4 for the help they need. Repeating the same detail earns at most 4. Order does not matter.

Traps: Incomplete reference, Repeating one detail

Feedback: The reference includes both kinds of information on the form: what residents can offer and what they need. Giving only one is incomplete.

4. iii) They believed they had no useful skills to offer. (8 points)

Evidence: many believed they had nothing useful to offer [line 17]

Marking: 8 points for option iii; 0 for another option.

Traps: Initial assumption versus actual reason, Unsupported motive

Feedback: Being too busy was the organizers' first explanation. Conversations revealed the actual problem: residents doubted that they had anything useful to offer.

5. professional training (to contribute / to join). (8 points)

Evidence: More residents joined after they realized that professional training was not necessary. [lines 19-20]

Marking: 8 points for professional training / professional qualifications or an equivalent idea. A general claim about having more time does not answer the question.

Traps: Reversal of a negative, Example versus explanation

Feedback: The examples showed that simple help was enough: professional training was not necessary. Watering plants is an example, not a new entry requirement.

6. gain practical experience. (8 points)

Evidence: Adam had originally joined to gain practical experience [line 24]

Marking: 8 points for gaining practical experience. Later benefits, such as feeling more comfortable with neighbors, are not the original motive.

Traps: Original motive versus later benefit, Nearby detail

Feedback: Originally points to the reason he joined: practical experience. Help with a job interview and greater confidence appear later in the story.

7. The adults on Adam's street. (8 points)

Evidence: he rarely spoke to the adults on his street. Now, he feels more comfortable asking them for advice [lines 25-26]

Marking: 8 points for the adults on his street / his adult neighbors. The retired manager alone or all members of the time bank is not the stated reference.

Traps: Nearest noun versus correct reference, Reference too broad

Feedback: Them is plural and refers back to the adults on his street. The manager is one person; the organizers are not the group discussed here.

8. have not introduced it yet. (7 points)

Evidence: The organizers are considering a reminder system, but they have not introduced it yet. [lines 31-32]

Marking: 7 points for stating that the system has not yet been introduced / is still only being considered. Do not accept that it was introduced and failed.

Traps: Plan versus completed action, Invented result

Feedback: The system is being considered. The text gives no result because it has not been introduced yet.

9. iv) A time bank can connect neighbors even though it has limitations. (8 points)

Evidence: The program aims to bring neighbors together ... Although the program cannot replace every paid service ... a chance for people to recognize abilities [lines 6-7 and 32-34]

Marking: 8 points for option iv; 0 for another option.

Traps: Overgeneralization, Absolute wording, Reversed condition

Feedback: The article describes useful connections and real limits. It does not claim that professionals are required, that money becomes unnecessary, or that every request is answered.
