הנחיות למאמן בצ׳אט

שאל שאלה אחת באנגלית וחכה לתשובה. אם נתקעתי, תן רמז קצר ושאל שוב. אחרי הניסיון, אמור איזה רעיון נכון ואיזה פרט כדאי להוסיף. קבל גם ניסוח נכון משלי. בדוק במשפט שכתבתי אות גדולה, סימן סיום, פסיק לפי הצורך והתאמה בין הנושא לפועל. בחר טעות אחת בכל פעם, הסבר אותה בקצרה בעברית ובקש ממני לתקן את המשפט בעצמי. לאחר התיקון הצג תשובה אפשרית אחת והזמן אותי לנסח אותה בדרך נוספת. אחרי כל חמש שאלות חזור על שאלה שהתקשיתי בה. המשך כך עד שנתרגל את כל ה־25.

Tutor mode

Ask one question in English and wait. Give a clue if needed. Respond to the idea, then teach one grammar or punctuation point from the learner’s sentence. Ask for a rewrite before showing one model answer. Accept other accurate answers. Revisit a difficult question after every five.

THREE WAYS TO ANSWER

George’s Situation

חשבו על הפער בין החיים שג׳ורג׳ מדמיין לבין מה שהוא עושה בכל יום.

04 Why did George leave school?

A George quit school on an impulse when he was sixteen.

B At sixteen, George made a sudden decision to leave high school.

C George was impatient with school. He left before he had a plan for what to do next.

Language check When you answer about a past event, use past forms: was, left, quit.

05 What does George want from life?

A George wants a good job and the respect of the people around him.

B He dreams of a house with a porch on a street with trees. He also wants someone to share his life with.

C In the park, he imagines work he enjoys, money of his own, and people who care about him.

Language check After wants to, use the base verb: He wants to work.

06 What does George's sister want?

A Sophie wants her brother to take responsibility for his future.

B Sophie hopes George will use his time well. She encourages him when she thinks he is reading.

C She wants George to make an effort. When she doubts his story about the books, she tells him to get a job.

Language check When a sentence starts with a when-clause, put a comma after that clause.

07 What is George's central internal conflict?

A George wants to change his life, but he puts off doing the work.

B He dreams of an education, yet he avoids the books he says he will read.

C Part of George wants to earn respect. Another part is afraid to admit how little he has done.

Language check Use a comma before but when it joins two complete sentences.

Your turn Cover the correction. Fix the sentence.

Try George want a better job.

Check George wants a better job.

בהווה פשוט מוסיפים בדרך כלל s לפועל אחרי he, she או it.

THREE WAYS TO ANSWER

The Promise

שימו לב מה ג׳ורג׳ אומר למר קטנזרה ומה השכנים מסיקים מכך.

08 Who is Mr. Cattanzara?

A Mr. Cattanzara is George’s neighbor. He works in a subway change booth.

B He is the man on George’s block who asks him about the books he plans to read.

C Mr. Cattanzara is an older neighbor who takes an interest in George and remembers him as a child.

Language check Use he is or he’s when you describe a person: He is a neighbor.

09 What does George tell Mr. Cattanzara?

A George says he plans to read about a hundred books over the summer.

B He tells Mr. Cattanzara that he has a reading list and wants to continue his education.

C George claims he is reading to educate himself. When asked how many books are on his list, he says about a hundred.

Language check After a number, use a plural count noun: a hundred books.

10 Why might George make this claim?

A He wants Mr. Cattanzara to respect him.

B George feels ashamed that he has no job. Talking about books makes him sound busy.

C He wants his neighbor to see him as someone with a plan. Saying he is reading helps him save face.

Language check Give a reason with because: He says this because he feels ashamed.

11 How does the neighborhood react?

A The neighbors become friendlier when they hear about the books.

B The shoemaker praises George, and other people smile at him in the street.

C People on the block begin to treat him with respect. George notices their approval when he takes his evening walks.

Language check A plural subject takes the base verb here: The neighbors smile.

Your turn Cover the correction. Fix the sentence.

Try I think George wants respect, he talks about his reading.

Check I think George wants respect. He talks about his reading.

שני משפטים שלמים זקוקים לחיבור מתאים. כאן אפשר לחלק לשניים ולהתחיל את השני באות גדולה.

THREE WAYS TO ANSWER

Pressure and Truth

עקבו אחרי רגשותיו של ג׳ורג׳ כשהשבח הופך לציפייה.

12 Why does George avoid Mr. Cattanzara?

A He is afraid that Mr. Cattanzara will ask him about a book.

B George has not read the books he talked about, so he avoids the man who might ask about them.

C He hopes to finish a book before they meet again. Then he will have something real to say.

Language check Use about after ask when you name the topic: ask him about a book.

13 What is the effect of public praise?

A At first the praise makes George proud. Later it makes him feel ashamed.

B He enjoys the neighbors’ smiles, but their trust puts pressure on him to live up to his claim.

C George starts walking with his head up. As time passes, he worries about what people will think if they learn the truth.

Language check Show the order with at first and later. Begin each new sentence with a capital letter.

14 How does Mr. Cattanzara respond to George?

A Mr. Cattanzara asks George to name one book he has read. He gives him a chance to answer.

B He challenges George in private. The neighbors still treat George kindly afterward.

C He asks a hard question, but he does not embarrass George in front of the neighbors. George believes his secret is safe.

Language check After does not, use the base verb: He does not tell.

15 What does George learn about respect?

A George learns that he has to earn the respect he wants.

B Praise feels good at first, but he cannot feel proud of work he has never done.

C He learns how uncomfortable it is to be admired for a claim. Starting to read gives him a reason to respect himself.

Language check In the simple present, use learns with he: George learns that ...

THREE WAYS TO ANSWER

Ending and Meaning

השתמשו בפעולה אחת מהסיום כדי לתמוך בפרשנות שלכם.

16 What does George finally begin to do?

A He goes to the library and starts reading.

B At the end, George sits down at a library table to read a book.

C George finally acts on his plan. He goes to the library, counts off a hundred books, and sits down to read.

Language check Keep linked actions in the same tense: He goes, chooses, and reads.

17 What might the books symbolize?

A The books can stand for a new chance to learn.

B They may represent the future George hopes to build for himself.

C At first the books are part of a story George tells. At the library, they can represent a real first step toward a better life.

Language check After might or may, use the base verb: The books might represent hope.

18 How does George change?

A At first George only talks about reading. By the end, he starts to read.

B He changes from someone who avoids the books to someone who chooses to open one.

C Early in the story, he wants people to think he is learning. At the end, he goes to the library on his own.

Language check For one person, use he goes. For several people, use they go.

19 What is the central message?

A Change begins when a person takes a real step. George takes his first step at the library.

B Other people can encourage you, but you still have to do the work yourself. George finally sits down to read.

C The story shows that a person can start again. George left school, yet he finds a way to learn on his own.

Language check Check each sentence for a subject and a verb: George starts again.

Your turn Cover the correction. Fix the sentence.

Exam Challenge

בחרו פרט קטן מהסיפור והסבירו מה אפשר להבין ממנו.

20 Explain the role of Mr. Cattanzara.

A Mr. Cattanzara encourages George to learn and asks him about his progress.

B He acts as a guide. Asking George to name a book makes George face the truth about his summer.

C His interest makes George feel that someone believes in him. His question about one book also shows George the gap between talking and reading.

Language check Use makes + person + base verb: It makes George think.

21 Explain the irony of the neighborhood's praise.

A The neighbors praise George for reading books that he has not read.

B The readers know that George is avoiding the books. The people on his block think he is working hard.

C The praise is ironic because the neighbors admire something that has not happened. George only starts reading at the library later.

Language check Usually no comma is needed before because when the reason follows the main idea.

22 How does the setting influence the story?

A People on George's block know each other, so news about his reading spreads quickly.

B The shoemaker hears about George's plan. Soon other neighbors are smiling at George too.

C George walks past the same neighbors each evening. Their praise makes him feel proud, and their expectations later make him nervous.

Language check Join two full sentences with a period or with a comma and so.

THREE WAYS TO ANSWER

Exam Challenge

השוו בין שתי סצנות ובדקו בדיוק מה מספר לנו הסיום.

23 Compare George's words and actions.

A George talks about reading a hundred books, but he puts off reading them. At the end, he finally begins.

B He tells Mr. Cattanzara he has a reading plan. For much of the summer he goes for walks and leaves the books unread.

C His words win respect before his actions earn it. Going to the library is the first clear step toward keeping his promise.

Language check Use about + verb ending in -ing: He talks about reading.

24 Why is the title important?

A The title makes us expect a summer full of books. George only sits down to read at the library in the fall.

B Reading is what George talks about all summer. The title draws attention to the difference between his plan and his actions.

C The title points to both the books and the lesson George learns that summer. He discovers what it feels like to be praised for work he has put off.

Language check After to in expect someone to do something, use the base verb: We expect him to read.

25 What makes the ending open?

A We see George begin to read. We never find out whether he finishes the books.

B George is at the library when the story ends. What he does the next day is left to the reader to imagine.

C The last scene gives us hope because George takes action. It leaves a question open: will he keep reading?

Language check In an indirect question, keep subject before verb: We wonder if he will continue.
